PRESIDENT FORMALLY ACCEPTS DEMOCRATIC NOMINATION FOR RE-ELECTION

This picture shows President Wilson, standing on the veranda at Shadow Lawn, his summer home, speaking to the crowd after accepting the formal notification of his nomination by the democratic party for re-election.

THE GOODNIGHT KISS.

- I.
- Kiss goodnight now, little one,
You are tired, and would rest;
Day says farewell to the Sun
And the bird flies to its nest.
When the evening shadows fall
Home's the sweetest place for all.
- II.
- With the roses, all day long,
With the singing winds at play;
Sweet it is at evening-song
On Love's breast your head to lay.
- Kiss goodnight now in your place,
Smiling in a mother's face.
- III.
- We are children—all, that roam
In the world's ways, dark or bright,
But the memory of Home
Brings us there in Life's last night.
There, in trustful love we'll rest,
Children—on a mother's breast.
—F. L. Stanton.

ARBITRATION

ARBITRATION was such a sacred principle with the railroads that they could settle nothing except by arbitration, says the New York World. They could not even accept a compromise plan suggested by the president by which the eight-hour day was to be tried experimentally for a short period and all other issues arbitrated.

But with the Interborough arbitration is "obsolete," according to its attorney, and the officers of the company insist that in no circumstances will the "master-and-servant" contracts be submitted to arbitration.

The same financial interests that sustained the railroads are sustaining the Interborough. No republican or Wall Street newspaper that assailed the brotherhoods for refusing to submit the principle of an eight hour day to arbitration has anything but words of encouragement to the Interborough for refusing to submit anything to arbitration. By the time Mr. Hughes reaches New York he will probably have arrived at the conclusion that arbitration is a sacred principle when the corporations want it and obsolete when the corporations do not want it.

The business of fooling some of the people all of the time and all of the people some of the time is ever prosperous.

SIMPLE NATIONAL AIRS

IN commending simplicity as "one capable merit" of England's national air, The Manchester Guardian takes a rap at "The Star Spangled Banner."

It says that "anyone who has heard an American audience going to pieces" over that anthem "will have realized how important is simplicity in a national air."

This is in line with American criticism, remarks the Atlanta Constitution, and the demand for a simpler, livelier air which, as has been noted, has even resulted in the suggestion of "Dixie" as the national anthem, the main objection to it being "the undignified words."

But some of our northern contemporaries are even willing to admit "Dixie" as originally written, for the sake of the thrill of it—"if the people want it."

An English correspondent says that "Dixie" has been known "to stir a London audience to the enthusiastic limit." Poets and musical composers have for some time been experimenting with new words and music for a simple national air, but none has met with popular approval. They may yet strike the right key, and a new national anthem acceptable to all may be the result.

The highbrows will not tolerate "Dixie," but they are not the People, and wisdom will not die with them.

THE CRITICS DEFEAT THEMSELVES

ALTERNATELY President Wilson is depicted by critics as a tyrant on a throne who drives congress along with the fury of a slave master, then as a weak and wabbling statesman who has neither ability nor convictions of his own.

Obviously both these charges cannot be true. The president cannot at one and the same time be too masterly in his control of affairs and lacking in firm leadership. The critics neutralize their efforts, Nor will it do for the antis to shout that Wilson has done nothing for the country's progress and then declaim against his reelection on the ground that our progressive legislation has already been accomplished, for as Vice President Marshall points out, what has been done was done by the democratic administration; what progressive laws have been written, have been written by them. If the mission of the progressive party has been fulfilled to Woodrow Wilson, more than to any other man, belongs the credit.

The nature of the attacks upon the president and the carping, senseless attitude of the subsidized newspaper organs that have enlisted against him should endear him to the hearts of the rank and file of the people.

A news story from Round-Up headquarters says many prominent men will be at the Round-Up; as a matter of fact a man is not prominent in this state unless he does attend.

Taft and Root will be good men to fire the enthusiasm of the progressives—sending them to Wilson.

List your rooms with the accommodation headquarters; they will be needed next week.

These cool mornings will cause the fuel dealers to take heart anew.

At last all have been notified.

28 Years Ago Today

(From the Daily East Oregonian, Sept. 15, 1888.)

A large congregation was present at the Congregational church Sunday evening—an able sermon being preached by Mr. Lee.

Mrs. R. Saunders left on last Saturday night's train to join her husband at Tacoma, having received intelligence that he was lying very ill at that place.

The inside work of Gagen's hotel, the lathing and partitioning, is nearly completed.

The extension of the wing of the eastern is now completed furnishing a plentiful supply of water for the town which is saying a great deal considering the large amount of liquid that is carelessly wasted.

Judge Fee adjourned court Saturday evening until next Friday.

An addition has been made to the town of Holix and four of its principal streets have been named Cleveland, Thurman, Harrison and Morton.

H. L. Marston is moving his goods and chattels to rooms in East Oregonian building where his family will reside hereafter.

James Huffman is rapidly improving and will be able to hobble around in a week or two.

A perfect epidemic of juvenile bootblacks has struck the town of late. One can be observed at every corner.

TAKES REVENGE FOR DEATH OF HIS WIFE

Portland Mechanic Uses Shotgun on Man Suspected of Murder of Mrs. J. L. Lee—Couple Had Been Divorced.

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 15.—The tragic death of his divorced wife by a rifle in the hands of Albert F. Gabel caused Jesse L. Lee, a mechanic of Kenton, to attempt the retributive killing of Gabel yesterday afternoon at 4:15 o'clock. At close range Lee fired two loads from a shotgun at Gabel, inflicting wounds that may prove fatal. The shooting occurred before the Queen Bakery, 622 Alberta street. Mrs. Lee was killed by the alleged accidental discharge of a rifle on January 9 last.

Seated before the bakery, where he is employed as a delivery chauffeur by his brother, Henry Gabel, the victim, was reading a newspaper. Lee approached, carrying a sawed-off shotgun.

"Do you know who I am?" witnesses say he asked. "Well, I'm Mr. Lee." His next words were in a lower tone and unintelligible. Gabel glanced up from his paper as Lee fired. The first shot caught Gabel in the left shoulder shattering it. A hail of buckshot smashed through the bakery windows, imperiling those inside.

Gabel leaped to his feet, his shirt-sleeves reddened with blood, and began to run. Lee fired at the fleeing man, dropping him in a huddle on the sidewalk. The first shot was fired at a distance of about 12 feet, the second at 25 feet.

Fifty Against Two. It is not reasonable to expect two weeks of outing to overcome the effects of fifty weeks of confinement. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla along with you. It refreshes the blood, improves the appetite, makes sleep easy and restful.

POOR LO MAKES WAY NOW FOR BUSY LO

Indians at Carlisle School Earned $35,169.42 Working Part Time During the Year.

CARLISLE, Pa., Sept. 15.—How the Indian is taking his place as a citizen of this country and fitting himself to be a self-sustaining wage-earner is shown in the report of the work of the students of the Carlisle Indian school under the outing system for 1915, recently made public.

In all, 261 male students, working part time in various industries earned $31,190.81 during the twelve months. The girls, active as domestics and nurses, earned $4,978.61, this amount being obtained by 193. Each year the total of sums secured in this way is growing.

The largest percentage of the sum was made in the Ford factory by twenty-nine boys, who have been there under an apprentice system for periods of from three to fifteen months. They earned $18,561, and of this sum saved $4,640.50. Five boys there longest, earned over $1000 during the year and twenty over $500.

"Say, Mollie, I was just looking at the way this stove is made!

"I know something about the way most stoves are made—but, do you know, this has got them all beat a mile!

"Simple as A, B, C—but the method of construction is what gets me.

"After you have examined this stove and are talking about wood-stoves—you can think of this kind only—THE

Cole's Original Air-Tight Wood Stove

"This is the kind for me.
"See that double-seamed bottom? And that lock-seam in the body?

"No door frame to leak air and spoil your fire control.

"See that patent hinge on the ash door that lets it shut up just like a pump valve?
"See how the outside polished sides are protected from actual contact with the flames, and yet they will radiate heat from only a burning newspaper.

"I tell you what, we made a handy 'buy' when we got this wood-stove.

"There is nothing that will touch it for economy and comfort.

"We got our money's worth, sure enough.

"And have you noticed how all the folks admire it?

"Gee, it makes me feel quite chesty to own it."

If you want that "chesty" feeling also, Mr. Stove Buyer, come in—we have more stoves of the same kind.

proportion of all earnings are turned over to the school bupker to be kept until the students are graduated. Farming activity brought a return of $10,722.41 to 206 boys. This was secured during the summer months, when the school was not in session. Of the girls engaged in outside work 185 were domestics, which work is featured in the school course.

GINGER SNAPS.

Put 1-2 cup of butter and 1 cup of molasses on the fire; as soon as the butter has softened, remove from the fire and add 1-2 cup of brown sugar, and 1 teaspoon of ginger. Sift 3 cups of flour with 1 teaspoon of soda, and add to the molasses mixture. If not stiff enough to roll thin, add more flour. Cut out with a cookie cutter. Bake in a moderate oven 10 or 15 minutes. Other fats may be used when butter is high priced.

PUPIL RETURNED AFTER YEARS FOR WHIPPING

Ran Away When Sent Out by Teacher to Get a Suitable Switch for Purpose.

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Sept. 15.—A novel incident occurred on the streets of Milledgeville recently. A tall, portly gentleman, the picture of health and vigor, came up to Prof. O. M. Cone of the Georgia Military College Faculty. The stranger carried a long hickory switch in his hand. He asked: "Is this Professor Cone?" Being answered in the affirmative, he said:

"My name, sir, is John Lehman. Forty years ago when you were teaching in the old field school at Island Creek, in Hancock county, my parents, then living in Florida, sent me up to your school. One day you decided that a good whipping was just what I needed to set me right, and you sent me out to get the switch. I can remember, sir, that I never came back. I saw my chance to escape, and I ran away. This is the first time I have seen you since that day. But I have never felt right about the way I did, and I have come back now all the way from my home in Brunswick to take my whipping. Here is the switch."

Of course Prof. Cone agreed in the circumstances to let bygones be bygones, and he and his former pupil shook hands and had a good laugh together.
